Lockheed P-38 Lightning 68. We told Doolittle that The Lockheed P-38 Lightning is an American single-seat, twin-engined fighter aircraft that was used during World War II. Along with its use as a general fighter, the P-38 was used in various aerial warfare roles, including as a fighter-bomber, a night fighter, and a long-range escort fighter when equipped with drop tanks. Developed for the United States Army Air Corps (USAAC) by the Lockheed Corporation, the P-38 incorporated a distinctive twin boom design with a central nacelle containing the cockpit and armament. The P-38 was also used as a bomber-pathfinder, guiding streams of medium and heavy bombers, or even other P-38s equipped with bombs, to their targets. We checked the Lightning and it couldn't fly in combat faster than 0. So, it was useless. three-quarters the speed of sound. Although it was not designated a heavy fighter or a bomber destroyer by the USAAC, the P-38 filled those roles and more; unlike German heavy fighters crewed by two or three airmen, the P-38, with its lone pilot, was nimble enough to compete with single-engined fighters 433f519755 of death, occultism, and violence.
