Science education in England Below university level, science education is the responsibility of three bodies: the Department for Education, Ofqual and the QAA, but at university level, science education is regulated by various professional bodies, and the Bologna Process via the QAA. Ofqual on the other hand, regulates science education for GCSEs and AS/A levels, as well as all other qualifications, except those covered by the QAA, also via qualification boards. single science has effectively been removed from most GCSE specifications, and the two components of double science have been combined to form "combined science" Science education in England is generally regulated at all levels for assessments that are England's, from 'primary' to 'tertiary' (university). The QAA also regulates science education for some qualifications that are not university degrees via various qualification boards, but not content for GCSEs, and GCE AS and A levels 4389dd1461
