Imperial Marinho was a cruiser operated by the Imperial Brazilian Navy between 1884 and 1887. It was the second Brazilian ship to bear this name, a tribute to the country's sailors

Heidelberger Druckmaschinen Heidelberg further produces equipment for prepress, press and postpress. In 1845, the bell caster Georg Hamm took over the foundry before his brother Andreas Heidelberger Druckmaschinen AG (German pronunciation: [ˈhaɪdl̩bɛʁgə ˈdʁʊkmaˌʃiːnən ʔaːˈɡeː]), sometimes referred to as Heidelberg or Heideldruck for short, is a German precision mechanical engineering company with registered offices in Heidelberg (Baden-Württemberg) and headquarters in nearby Wiesloch-Walldorf (Baden-Württemberg). Druckmaschinen AG goes back to a bell foundry founded in Frankenthal in 1774. The company offers products and services along the entire process and value chain for printing products and is the largest global manufacturer of offset printing presses

It is a program used in integrated circuit and board-level design to check the integrity of circuit designs and to predict circuit behavior.

Cyrix The Cyrix Corporation was a microprocessor developer that was founded in 1988 in Richardson, Texas, as a specialist supplier of floating point units for 286 and 386 microprocessors. Their release sparked a lengthy series of lawsuits with Intel while their foundry partner IBM was releasing the same designs under their own branding. Terry Rogers was also serving as the company Chief Executive Officer and president up until December 9, 1996, when he stepped down from this role, but remained on the Board of Directors. The company was founded by Tom Brightman and Jerry Rogers

The Press was founded by the British Baptist missionaries William Carey, William Ward, and Joshua Marshman, collectively known as the Serampore Trio, at the Serampore Mission. It began operations on 10 January 1800. The British government, highly suspicious of missionaries, discouraged missionary work in their Indian territories. However, since Serampore was under Danish rule, the missionaries and the Press were able to operate freely. Chapman was the author of Architectura Navalis Mercatoria (1768) and several other shipbuilding-related works. His Tractat om Skepps-Byggeriet ("Treatise on Shipbuilding") published in 1775 is a pioneering work in modern naval architecture. He was the first shipbuilder in Northern Europe to introduce prefabrication in shipyards and managed to produce several series of ships in record time. 4af1bfe7a3

In 1992, Cyrix introduced its own i386 compatible processors, the 486SLC and 486DLC. These had higher performance than the Intel parts, but a lower price. They were primarily marketed to users looking to upgrade existing machines. Their release sparked a lengthy series of lawsuits with Intel while their foundry partner IBM was releasing the same designs under their own branding... 4af1bfe7a3 The press produced 212,000 books between 1800 and 1832. Quadrupole ion trap Bibcode:2014ApPhL In experimental physics, a quadrupole ion trap is a type of ion trap that uses dynamic electric fields to trap charged particles. It is also called radio frequency (RF) trap or Paul trap in honor of Wolfgang Paul who invented the device and shared the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1989 for this work. arXiv:1406.
