EIA 1956 resolution chart Two Japanese The EIA 1956 Resolution Chart (until 1975 called RETMA Resolution Chart 1956) is a test card originally designed in 1956 to be used with black and white analogue TV systems, based on the previous (and very similar) RMA 1946 Resolution Chart. Inspecting the chart allowed to check for defects like ringing, geometric distortions, raster scan linearity, cathode-ray tube uniformity and lack of image resolution. It consisted of a printed chart filmed by a TV camera or monoscope to be displayed on a TV screen, and was also available as individual rolls of test film to test broadcasting equipment. If needed, a technician could use it to perform the necessary hardware adjustments. Some variations of the EIA resolution test chart exist. for photo and videography and other imaging equipment like microscopes or CCTV cameras 177c6762f8
