Such wireless networks lack the complexities of infrastructure setup and administration, enabling devices to create and join networks "on the fly".

Each device in a MANET is free to move independently in any direction, and will therefore change its links to other devices frequently. Each must forward traffic unrelated to its own use, and therefore be a router. The primary challenge in building a MANET is equipping each device to continuously maintain the information required to properly route traffic. This becomes harder as the scale of the MANET increases due to (1) the desire to route packets to/through every other node, (2) the percentage of overhead traffic needed to maintain real-time routing status, (3) each node has its own goodput...

Wireless ad hoc network 11a enabled laptops and a practical ad hoc mobile A wireless ad hoc network (WANET) or mobile ad hoc network (MANET) is a decentralized type of wireless network. The network is ad hoc because it does not rely on a pre-existing infrastructure, such as routers or wireless access points. Instead, each node participates in routing by forwarding data for other nodes. ABR was submitted to IETF as RFCs. ABR was implemented successfully into Linux OS on Lucent WaveLAN 802. The determination of which nodes forward data is made dynamically on the basis of network connectivity and the routing algorithm in use 20c02aca0b
