Conscience In common terms, conscience is often described as leading to feelings of remorse when a person commits an act that conflicts with their moral values. addressed it: Religious views Secular views Philosophical views In the literary traditions of the Upanishads, Brahma Sutras and the Bhagavad Gita, conscience A conscience is a cognitive process that elicits emotion and rational associations based on an individual's moral philosophy or value system. Conscience is not an elicited emotion or thought produced by associations based on immediate sensory perceptions and reflexive responses, as in sympathetic central nervous system responses. The extent to which conscience informs moral judgment before an action and whether such moral judgments are or should be based on reason has occasioned debate through much of modern history between theories of basics in ethic of human life in juxtaposition to the theories of romanticism and other reactionary movements 3d7352d4b4

John Milton probably written by Milton, lays out many of his heterodox theological views, and was not discovered and published until 1823. He also served as a civil servant for the Commonwealth of England under its Council of State and later under Oliver Cromwell. It addressed the fall of man, including the temptation of Adam and Eve by the fallen angel Satan, and God's expulsion of them from the Garden of Eden. Paradise Lost elevated Milton's reputation as one of history's greatest poets. His 1667 epic poem Paradise Lost was written in blank verse and included 12 books, written in a time of immense religious flux and political upheaval. Milton's key beliefs were idiosyncratic John Milton (9 December 1608 – 8 November 1674) was an English poet, polemicist, and civil servant 3d7352d4b4
