Trade promotion forecasting knowledge and intuition for forecasting. One problem with this approach is that humans tend to make optimistic assumptions when forecasting and planning Trade promotion forecasting (TPF) is the process through which companies try to predict the performance of their trade promotions before running them. The ability to distinguish the "uplift", meaning the increase in product demand due to the impact of the trade promotion as opposed to baseline demand, is fundamental to model promotion behavior. Model determination enables what-if analysis to evaluate different campaign scenarios with the goal of improving promotion effectiveness and ROI at the product-channel level by selecting the best scenario. By analyzing current conditions and historic demand, it attempts to provide accurate demand forecasting for future campaigns 80786a1b28
