Holden The 164-year-old company ceased trading at the end of 2020, having switched to solely importing vehicles in its final three years. Another returning variant was the full-size utility, and on this occasion it was based on the Commodore. The VN Commodore received Holden, formerly known as General Motors-Holden, was an Australian subsidiary company of General Motors. Founded in Adelaide, it was an automobile manufacturer, importer, and exporter that sold cars under its own marque in Australia. It was headquartered in Port Melbourne, with major industrial operations in the states of South Australia and Victoria. short-wheelbase Commodore range in 1992 7f69e5eb9f

Holden Special Vehicles Established in 1987 and based in Clayton, Victoria, the privately owned company modified Holden models such as the standard wheelbase Commodore, long wheelbase Caprice and Statesman, and commercial Ute for domestic and export sale, all of which were imported from the main Holden assembly plant in Elizabeth, South Australia. HSV had also modified other non-Holden cars within the General Motors lineup in low volumes. Excluding the special V6-engined editions sold in New Zealand in the VN and VP series, the proper and original Holden Special Vehicles (HSV) was the officially designated performance vehicle division for Holden. that was based on the mainstream Commodore range
