

The Psychiatric Interview

Interview In common parlance, the word "interview" refers to a one-on-one conversation between an interviewer and an interviewee. This feature is common to many types of interviews – a job interview or interview with a witness to an event may have no other audience present at the time, but the answers will be later provided to others in the employment or investigative process. is called a psychiatric assessment. An interview may also transfer information in both directions. The interviewer asks questions to which the interviewee responds, usually providing information. That information may be used or provided to other audiences immediately or later.
