International cybercrime International cybercrimes often challenge the effectiveness of domestic and international law, and law enforcement. In 2002, EU presented a proposal for a "Framework Decision on Attacks against Information Systems". It refers to illegal internet-mediated activities that often take place in global electronic networks. Cybercrime is "international" or "transnational" - there are 'no cyber-borders between countries'. The Framework Decision takes note of There is no commonly agreed single definition of "cybercrime". Because existing laws in many countries are not tailored to deal with cybercrime, criminals increasingly conduct crimes on the Internet in order to take advantages of the less severe punishments or difficulties of being traced.
